The presentation is the feature element of the Postal History Society’s General Membership Meeting, which is open to the public.

The journal received a Gold Medal at 2014’s CHICAGOPEX. Judges noted how well the editors integrated intriguing articles of various lengths, styles, and subjects. They praised the technical qualities of the journal and expressed particular appreciation for the regularly featured essays that describe the journal’s cover images. The journal’s most recent issue, dated February 2015, includes research feature articles on several topics: “The 250th Anniversary of the Spanish Maritime Mail Service”; “Native Mail Carriers in Early America”; and “Post Offices & Depopulation: A Case Study of the Livingstone Valley, Alberta, Canada.”

The society’s Board of Directors will hold its meeting on Friday, May 1, 9:00 a.m.

The Postal History Society extends an open invitation to anyone interested in postal history to join the organization. U.S. memberships are $35 annually. Included in the members’ benefits is admission to all of the society’s membership meetings as well as a subscription to the Postal History Journal. The journal, published in February, June, and October, is an award-winning, full-color exploration of U.S. and global postal history that offers original research articles on all periods of postal history, reviews of literature in the field, and surveys of postal history offerings in other journals.

The Postal History Society offers medals that exhibitions may use to recognize the best postal history exhibits in their competitive class of exhibits. Exhibits coordinators may obtain details and request medals by contacting Alan Barasch, Awards Chairman, at alan@mophil.org.
